YOU'D BETTER BE GOOD AT AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Policewomen Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out When You Come to See the Gas Wagons Next Month—Arrangements Completed for a Big Show in the Armory.

Women's Motor Corps members in Kingston believe in work rather than wearing a nice uniform and talking about how other folks ought to do things. Of course, they have the uniforms, but they also do the work. So they are going to help the big automobile show March 13, 14 and 15 by furnishing details from the Corps to police the armory and have charge of the information bureau. Also they are going to carry advertising placards for the show all over the county. The offer was received with enthusiastic approval at the committee meeting Monday afternoon and accepted by a unanimous vote.

The rock on which many a promising young automobile show has been wrecked—allocation of space—was cleared of and the spaces as allotted by Mr. Millard approved after one eight change had been made, following a brief and amicable argument. Everybody seemed satisfied and happy over the allotments made. Governor Smith has not yet pronounced positively to be here to open the show, but Capt. Everett Fowler is going up to Albany to see the governor about it, and so everybody has hopes. Anyway, Secretary of State Hugo will be at the show Friday evening.

Of far more importance is the fact the dealers all brought in their checks for the guarantee fund and handed them over to Treasurer Smith and about $200 worth of space in the official program was subscribed for right on the spot, a promise being given that the book would be out on time this year.

The motorcycle dealers were invited to come in and exhibit on the same terms as the automobile dealers; the price of single admission to the show was fixed at 25 cents, season tickets 40 cents, and after discussing such things technical matters as standards, trip taxes, etc., the meeting adjourned. As Chairman Turk said: "Now only a regular old bluster of a blizzard can keep the show from being a success."

MORE DIPHTHERIA AND FLU CASES

This morning five new cases of diphtheria were reported to the board of health. Ten new cases of influenza were also reported. Major Frank A. Johnston, the health officer, is using every effort to prevent a further spread of diphtheria. It is expected that the flu situation will be taken up and discussed at the next meeting of the health board.

ANY MICE WANTED? SHOULD SAY NOT

As Secretary Sahloff of Health Board Was Declining Offer to Supply White Mice, a Mysterious Package Was Delivered.

"Do we need any white mice?" asked Secretary Fred Sahloff, with a smile this morning as he was reading a communication from a Poughkeepsie man offering to supply the health board with some for a consideration.

"I should say not," replied Miss Loretta Nolan, the charming clerk of the board, in a shivery tone as she shrugged her shoulders.

"Yes," murmured the chorus of trained nurses who overheard Secretary Sahloff's remark and Miss Nolan's reply.

"Well, just write him then," directed Secretary Sahloff, "that we have no present need for white mice."

It was at that interesting juncture that a package was left at the office by some one. The package was addressed to the health board and purported to be from Poughkeepsie and contained white mice.

The package was laid on the desk near Miss Nolan's typewriter, but was hardly removed by some party unknown.

Then the package was opened. Who opened it is not exactly known for in the excitement that followed several shrieks went the air while chairs came in demand as two white mice hurried across the floor by the excited nurse's heels.

Later an investigation disclosed the fact that the "white mice" were a pair of rat venison slices that had been rolled up in a ball.

If the guilty culprit, who delivered the mysterious package, is discovered, he will be severely dealt with; the mice will not speak to him for a day at least.

DANIELS PROGRAM TO PASS HOUSE

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Feb. 11.—Trains arriving here today for absentee representatives hastily summoned by both Democratic and Republican leaders in a determined effort to strengthen their respective forces preparatory to the expected renewal of the legislative battle in the house over Secretary Daniels' bigger American navy program.

It was whispered about the capitol that another cablegram from President Wilson from Paris, in which he forcibly reiterated his desire that congress authorize the carrying out of the program, which he still deemed necessary because of arrangements at the peace conference, was a triumph card the Democrats were prepared to play.

Democratic leaders smilingly shook their heads in a non-committal way when they were questioned about the rumored cablegram. They declared, however, that Secretary Daniels had been in frequent communication by cable with the president, lately and that they had been officially informed that the president had still no reason to change his mind respecting his previously expressed wish that the Daniels program be continued for the present, at least.

Those prominently identified with the Democratic majority in the house freely predicted that the Daniels program would triumph in that body, although they admitted it was certain to encounter even more bitter opposition when it reached the senate.

POUGHKEEPSIE MAN CALLED BOLSHEVIST

B. Hiram Mattingly, an instructor in Poughkeepsie High School Called Before Education Board to Explain.

B. Hiram Mattingly, an instructor in the commercial department of the Poughkeepsie high school was called before the education board in that city Monday afternoon to answer to a charge that at a socialist meeting in Good Templars' Hall last Sunday night he not only presided and introduced a speaker on Bolshevism, but also openly applauded the statement that the Bolshevik forces had hung back the American army in Siberia. The board met in secret session says the Poughkeepsie Evening Star. What action was taken is not known at the present time.

Killed His Physician. By Telegram to The Freeman. Muskogee, Mich., Feb. 11.—Police are detaining August Foreman, who is said to have confessed to the murder yesterday of Dr. O. M. J. Hervey because "he neglected his case." Foreman called at the doctor's office late yesterday for treatment. A few minutes after he entered the doctor's private office, patients in the waiting room heard his shots. Dr. Hervey was found to have died almost instantly.

WILSON WOULD RETURN QUIETLY

Will Go Direct to Washington From Hoboken—Expected to Sail on Friday or Saturday.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Feb. 11.—President Wilson is anxious to avoid any demonstrations in honor of his homecoming, and has let this be known in a cablegram to Secretary Tumulty. It was learned at the White House executive office today. It was stated that the president, after landing from the George Washington at Hoboken, will proceed to Washington as quickly as possible. Here he will march at the head of a parade of District of Columbia Yanks, but will not review the parade.

The president has not given any hint of any definite date of his sailing for France. It was stated, it all depends on developments at the peace conference. It was pointed out, it was indicated that the president's departure may finally be set for Friday or Saturday but that if developments were such as to require his presence in France, he would delay starting the return trip as long as possible, arriving in this country, if necessary, only for the closing day or two of congress.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, last night, the board determined to call a conference of Kingston's shippers to consider shipping days, express service and the radical readjustment of freight rates, which has been tentatively proposed.

Duffy that the contract for the Rondout creek bridge will be let by April 1, and that the commission expects that the bridge will be completed during the year. The Chamber has made recommendations concerning various matters of municipal legislation. It also advocated the elimination of the ship-stop system.

25,500 SEATTLE WORKERS STILL IDLE

By Telegram to The Freeman. Seattle, Wash., Feb. 11.—Labor council delegates sat down for a long fight for their demand of a basic shipyard wage of $8, $7 and $6 in place of the Macey board award, which carries a minimum wage of $4.16. It is freely predicted by labor men that no change will occur in the situation until March 31, when the present agreement with the United States emergency fleet corporation expires.

With the general sympathetic strike declared at noon today, 25,500 shipyard workers are still idle. The sympathetic strike was a failure in the declaration of many labor men. A few maintain the general strike accomplished its object showing what organized labor can do and made an impression that will be felt throughout the country.

Today labor leaders talk of another strike. If employers discriminate against union workers and attempt to operate on the open shop basis.

UNDESIRABLES ON LAST LAP

Motley Crew of 57 I. W. W.'s And Other "Reds" From West, Reach Ellis Island On Way Back To Country—They Came From.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Feb. 11.—Dishevelled in appearance, but singing and shouting in seeming defiance, fifty-seven aliens, classed as "dangerous aliens," arrived at the Lackawanna terminal in Hoboken this morning and were immediately placed aboard an immigration department barge and removed to Ellis Island, whence they will be deported from the country.

They were guarded by secret service agents and a large force of Hoboken police reserves as they straggled from the two Pullman cars which brought them from "points west," as far as Seattle, they were fractious when compelled to board the barge and several of them had to be threatened with night sticks of the Jersey patrolmen before they would consent to leave the pier.

Newspaper men were not permitted to approach the "undesirables," as they descended from the train, carrying all sorts of baggage, bundles of clothing hung on sticks, old fashioned "telescope" bags, bandana handkerchiefs, filled with personal effects, etc.

As the motley crowd filed down the platform, towards the pier head, where the barge, William C. Moore, was waiting to transport them to Ellis Island, they struck up cries of "liberty for the I. W. W." "down with autocracy." The police made no attempt to stop these cries, but hustled their charges aboard the barge.

It was especially marked, as the group was herded aboard the barge, that each man wore a flaming red necktie. The rest of their apparel was shabby and their faces, in most cases, were unshaven. They presented a sullen appearance.

When the throng boarded the Moore it was reported that the alleged seditionists started a fight among themselves, it having been rumored that there was a spy—a "stool pigeon"—among them. Fists flew merrily for about five minutes and bloody noses were accumulating when the police took a hand and restored order.

The one woman in the party was kept aloof from the rest of the party; as was the wounded "spy" after he had been rescued from the irate I. W. W.'s on board the barge. This man is also under arrest but is said to have been supplying information to the government.

DEFENDS FRANCE'S RIGHT TO DIFFER

By Telegram to The Freeman. Paris, Feb. 11.—"France has the right to raise her voice to address public opinion."

This was the declaration made in the Echo de Paris today by M. Poincaré, the foremost campaigner against certain governments represented at the peace conference and the most violent commentator in the morning press. He added:

"Great Britain and America shall pay for their errors, made possible through their idealism, half of which is electoral flattery and dogmatism and the other half half ecgological commercialism."

Principal Named by Erring Girl. The hearing Saturday before the education board of Newburgh on the charges against Prof. R. DeWitt Morrison, principal of the Washington street school, by Mary Simonella, a former pupil lasted all afternoon and late into the evening. The board then adjourned without discussing the case having decided to await a transcript of the testimony. The girl accused the principal of taking advantage of her two years ago. SOMBER OPENING OF ENGLAND'S PARLIAMENT

King's Address at Most Important Session in Hundred Years, Urges Steadfastness—England in Mourning.

KINGSTON FIRM 52 YEARS IN BUSINESS

And Original Proprietor Still On The Job—George O. Styles, Sr., Celebrated 70th Birthday.

Only it was celebrated in such a quiet manner that a few knew anything about it. The Freeman learned about it only in a casual way. George O. Styles, Sr., jeweler, on Monday celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday. In offering him congratulations it was learned that Mr. Styles had been in business in this city a little over fifty-two years. While the knowledge came too late to aid in celebrating the golden jubilee itself, the Freeman is pleased to give its readers a brief but very interesting history of Mr. Styles' very successful business which stands today as the oldest individual business institution with the original proprietor in the city of Kingston.

Mr. Styles at the age of 16 years left this city and went to New York city where he spent ten years learning the watchmaker's trade. He returned to Kingston in 1856 to establish the starting place for the well known Styles jewelry and watch repairing business. In 1866 Mr. Styles opened his business at the corner of Crown and North Front streets next to the old post office. This site is still standing and is occupied by Kaplan's furniture store.

In later years Mr. Styles moved his store into the Wynkoop building on Wall street next to the State of New York Bank. This building including the Styles store was destroyed by fire in 1875 and Mr. Styles discontinued his business until the building was rebuilt. When the new building was completed, Mr. Styles continued in business there until 1910 when he purchased the Cole property at the corner of John and Fair streets, which building he has occupied for the past nine years and is still occupying.

Mr. Styles' two sons have been associated with him during their entire business career never having been connected with any other line of enterprise. George B. Junior has completed 29 years with his father and Harry 23 years.

Mr. Styles comes of a family noted for its longevity, his father, Edward W. Styles, having lived to be 92 years of age.

Throughout his life Mr. Styles has been one of the most ardent sportsmen of the city and still enjoys a fishing or hunting trip—and he is generally successful too. He has always been the proud owner of some of the finest bird dogs and today "Nellie," his famous bird hunter, is his faithful companion at all times.

GAS SHELLS GO TO OCEAN BOTTOM

By Telegram to The Freeman. Baltimore, Feb. 11.—With every member of the crew equipped with gas masks as a precautionary measure, the steamship Elinor sailed from Baltimore today with a cargo of three thousand tons of gas shells made at the Edgewood arsenal near here. The poisonous gas will be dumped somewhere in the Atlantic off the Chesapeake capes.

CAUGHT GRAFTING FROM Y. M. C. A.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Chicago, Feb. 11.—Four armed bandits early today shot and killed John Tatch when he fought their efforts to hold him up and three friends in a building in which he lived.

The Daily Chicago Help-Up.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 11.—Six persons, four of them women, were arrested today for loitering. More workmen reported at the mills today than on any other day since the textile strike went into effect.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 11.—King George, in a historic speech touching upon the supremely important questions affecting the vital life of the United Kingdom, today opened the most important parliament of the past hundred years.

The scene in the House of Lords was somber, lacking the usual brilliant display because the court is still in mourning for the death of the youngest son of the king and queen. Another contributing element was the desire to make the event symbolic of the state's authority.

The nation is confronted by grave questions affecting the national life, the king's address said, which was read from the throne, took on unusual importance. He reviewed the peace negotiations, assuring the nation that the thing for which the people had made their heavy sacrifices, would be assured if the people remained steadfast.

Measures to meet and dispel the national labor unrest were reviewed, as well as domestic questions and proposed legislation designed to help the ex-soldier and to better the lot of the workmen.

High tribute was paid to the valor of the army and navy. Parliament had opened a week ago yesterday for the purpose of swearing in new members, but it was not until today that the body got down to real business.

The present momentous session opens with a working majority of approximately 329 votes for Premier Lloyd-George in the House of Commons. However, an unprecedented situation exists through the fact that one large constituent part of the United Kingdom—South and Central Ireland—is not represented. The 73 Sinn Feiners who were elected in the recent election failed to take their seats.

The king and queen were part of an imposing cavalcade which rode from Buckingham palace to Westminster in semi-state. King George wore the uniform of a field marshal in the British army while the queen was in black. They occupied a royal landau and passed through cheering crowds en route.

The king sat while the address was read, with the Lord High Chamberlain standing upon his right and Queen Mary sitting to his left.

In the absence of some of the usual splendor the scene today was given a strong military setting. This was emphasized not only in parliament building but while the royal cavalcade was en route from the palace.

The entire route was lined with especially picked troops who stood with bayoneted rifles.

Many of the peers in the House of Lords were in khaki; many of the peeresses in the gallery were in black. The somberness was intensified by the gloomy light which filtered through the stained glass windows.

Many foreign diplomats were present. One element of interest attaching to the present parliament—the third in the reign of King George—is the fact that a woman was elected a member of Commons. However, she refused to take her seat. She is Countess Markievicz, a Sinn Feiner.

The old time Irish nationalist strength in Commons has been shattered. Joseph Devlin led a forlorn hope of seven Irish nationalists but it was uncertain whether they would sit after the first day or two.

Backing up the prime minister to the fullest degree on his program of reform is Lord Northcliffe, powerful newspaper proprietor. A number of other newspapers, outside of the Northcliffe chain, support the premier's reconstruction program also.

In connection with peace conference negotiations is the question of punishing the ex-kaiser, a matter upon which all Britons feel very strongly or two reasons: 1. the submarine atrocities on the high seas; 2. the useless bombardment of open British cities by German aircraft and sea craft.

Good Roads Meeting Today. Details of town road work and state aid plans are being discussed at the annual "Good Roads" meeting being held at the court house in this city, this afternoon, at the call of Sanford A. Cross, county superintendent of highways, pursuant to the state highway law. These meetings are held in every county in the state each year, to which town superintendents are notified to attend and superintendents and town officers who disburse moneys for highway purposes are also invited.

Nothing Goes to Rochester. The Rev. Lawrence T. Nutting, who occupied the pulpit of the Saugerties Baptist Church, February 2, as a candidate for the pastorate, has notified the church that he has accepted a call to a church near Rochester, N. Y., and that while serving the Rochester church, he will take a course in the Rochester Theological Seminary.

Mr. Nutting is well known in Kingston and at one time was one of the officers of the local Y. M. C. A.

Superintendent R. A. Elmendorf Files Annual Report for Past Year With Board of Fire Commissioners.

Superintendent of Fire Alarms R. A. Elmendorf has submitted his annual report for the year 1918, with the board of fire commissioners. His report showing the work done during the past year, follows:

Kingston, N. Y., Jan. 2nd, 1919.

To the Chief,

Kingston Fire Department:

I have the honor to submit my report for the year 1918:

Received the following material and equipment:

One Ford service car, one 30x3 1/2

Goodyear tire, one 30x3 1/2 Goodyear tube, one 30x3 1/2 Goodyear tube, one

30x3 1/2 Goodyear tube, four 30x3 1/2

Goodyear tube, six Champion spark plugs, one 30x3 1/2 Firestone tire, two

Universal Miller tubes, three fan

belts, one ignition cable, one timer,

300 porcelain insulators, 500 feet

No. 12 Duplex wire, 1/2 mile No. 10

H. D. copper line wire, six double

Vac-M arresters, complete, three single Vac-M arresters, complete, three

Gamewell alarm boxes, 250 glass for key guards, 12 key-breaks, 12 pipe insulators, 5 arrester boxes,

25 double storage battery plates, 14 positive end plates, 2 negative end plates, 12 double arrester cartridges,

200 No. 10 copper sleeves, Three new boxes Nos. 25, 93 and 114 have been installed, replacing old Star Box No. 114 and old Boxes 25 and 93 being Gamewell type, were rebuilt and replaced Star Boxes Nos. 69 and 39. All boxes have been painted and inspected and a number have been cleaned.

Lines are in fairly good condition. Changed line from Wall street and Underman avenue through Marius street and Washington avenue and used new wire. Installed Vac-M lightning arresters at different locations, which have proved successful at different times. Would suggest that more of these arresters be installed;

also the following—1 mile of line wire to replace old wire on circuits 3 and 4.

Three new boxes to replace old Star boxes 41,

77 and 96, which are the only old Star boxes left on the system. New underground wire or cable for entrance to Benedictine Sanitarium as a ground now exists continually in the old wires which I understand are an ordinary twisted pair not intended for running underground. There have been twelve open circuits during the year:

Five from sleet and heavy snow;

Five from falling of limbs and trees;

One from Kingston Gas & Electric Company's line falling, due to rotten poles and causing 4 boxes on circuit

No. 4 to be burned out;

One from switch on switchboard pulling apart while changing over battery. We are experiencing minor troubles very often on this old switchboard and have had to replace some of its parts by home-made devices on account of it being obsolete equipment, therefore a new switchboard should be considered before long. Have used 465 gallons of gas, and 18 gallons of oil for Ford during year. Respectfully submitted,

R. A. ELMENDORF, Supt. Fire Alarms.

SAVE MONEY ON SHOES FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

From Foochow, China, comes this letter from R. E. Gardner, Foochow College: "Neolin Soles have solved the shoe problem for me. Other soles wore out quickly on the rocky roads here, and I had no end of trouble with them," he writes.

Where other soles fail, Neolin Soles always stand the test of hard wear and rough usage. This fact points the way to economy. Buy Neolin-soled shoes for the whole family, and so save shoe money. And have Neolin Soles put on your old shoes, too.

GLASCO.

Many complaints are heard about the deplorable condition of the mail facilities between our Army of Occupation and the folks back home. In many instances letters sent from here to their soldier friends are being returned to them after weeks and months of anxious waiting. Widowed mothers of boys in the service wait patiently as they can for back pay and allotments for their main support. Such conditions tend to weaken the morale of the best and bravest of soldiers, and it isn't

Huntington Before Senate Committee
Describes Their Ideals as Different From Other Governments and Will to Win by Any Methods.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 11.—"The Russian Bolsheviks would destroy the United States government just as quickly as it would destroy any government that did not meet their theories," declared Dr. William Chapin Huntington, of Elizabeth, N. J., on the stand before the senate propaganda investigating committee today. As former commercial attaché of the United States embassy at Petrograd, he was called to give the committee information about conditions in Russia to enable them to decide into the charge that the insidious propaganda of the Bolsheviks is being spread throughout the United States.

"Their specific objections to the United States government," Huntington went on, "fall under two heads. First, they objected to our joining the war as they were against war, and second, ours is not a socialistic state."

"Then they would destroy our government as quickly as any other of which they did not approve?" asked Senator King.

"Just as quickly," Huntington replied.

His testimony followed a charge that influences in the treasury department operated to "whitewash" John von Englen, head of the farm loan bank at Columbia, S. C. The charge was made by Senator Benet of South Carolina, who said there was a report on file with the treasury department of an investigation of von Englen which did not warrant the letter the latter afterward received from the president exonerating him.

"Their purpose was to commit treason against their own government," Senator King interrupted.

"Of course, they did not recognize any such thing as treason against Russia," Huntington corrected.

"At any rate their purpose was to help Germany and Austria to win," King observed.

"That will have to be stated a little differently," Huntington said.

"They were willing to accept the aid of Germany and Austria and willing to play their game so long as it aided their own cause."

The Bolsheviks did not wish Germany to win, Huntington said, for they regarded Germany as an imperialistic and capitalistic state, just as they regarded the Allies and the United States, and if anything, they thought less of Germany than of the Allies. He described their position as the third point of the triangle of opinion.

"They admit, however, that they are altogether unscrupulous in achieving their ends," Huntington said. "Germany was trying to use them and at the same time they were trying to use Germany. They seem to have got rather the better of it."

Asked about the propaganda against the United States circulated by the Bolsheviks, Huntington said it criticized the United States as an imperialistic and capitalistic state.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Feb. 11.—A company of twenty-five or thirty persons gathered at Miss Ruth Ostrander's on Saturday afternoon of last week and gave Miss Roena Beatty, a linen shower. Many beautiful gifts were received.

A fine congregation listened to District Superintendent Fred Deming Sunday morning. This may be the last time Dr. Deming will preach here, as his term as superintendent of the Newburgh district will expire next spring.

Rev. Newell Heroy will speak on Thursday evening of this week in the lecture room of the Methodist Church on the unit system of this denomination.

In addition to the play entitled "Camp Keep-Off," to be given in the Grand Hall on the evening of February 22, as announced last week, there will be given a second play, entitled "Rise Up, Jennie Smith." This is a patriotic play in one act and full of interest and appeal. The cast of characters for these plays and other particulars will be given next week.

The forests of the Caucasus in Russia are estimated at 12,000,000 acres, chiefly in the Black Sea territory, which is at the rate of nearly twenty acres to each inhabitant. A MOBILE LAUNDRY.

Home Is The Theme That The Soldier Loves To Talk About.

Private Silas Van Etten forwards this poem to his mother in Kerhonkson:

We belonged to a Mobile Laundry.
It was running very well.
When along came a German air plane,
And blew it all to hell.

The cost of it was nothing.
The lives we lost were few.
Out of thirty seven,
We still have twenty two.

Some of them were wounded.
And some of them were dead.
But one we missed the most.
Was our Sergeant "Puddin' Head."

Now we have been transferred
To the Service of Supplies.
Going to the front line,
Where many brave boys died.

They work us in the day time.
They work us all the night.
And looking for the Cooties,
Is all we have to fight.

The boys up on the front line,
Are ready to "partee."
For they have whipped old Fritzle,
In their fight for Liberty.

Now the war is over,
And the fight is at an end.
If Mexico starts any trouble,
We are ready to fight again.

Now we are waiting for the day,
When we sail across the foam,
To the land we call America,
The place of Home Sweet Home.

And when we get to that dear place,
Glad hearts will greet us, we know is true.
Because we have been fighting for Old Glory, the Red, White and Blue.

LOWELL'S ESSAY

On Lincoln a Keen Analysis of
"Honest Abe."

Probably no other contemporary writer so fairly judged Abraham Lincoln as did James Russell Lowell. In an essay of Lowell's on "Abraham Lincoln," we find this paragraph:

"Mr. Lincoln's faith in God was qualified by a very well-founded distrust of the wisdom of men. Perhaps it was his want of self-confidence that more than anything else won him the unlimited confidence of the people, for they felt that there would be no need of retreat from any position he had deliberately taken. The very homeliness of his genius was its distinction. His kingship was conspicuous by its workaday homeliness. Never was ruler so absolute, nor so little conscious of it, for he was the incarnate common-sense of the people."

Equally worthy of note today are these words from Lowell found in his Harvard Commemoration Ode:

"Great captains, with their guns
And drums,
Disturb our judgment for the hour.
But at last silence comes;
These all are gone, and standing
Like a tower,
Our children shall behold his fame."

The kindly man, brave, fore-seeing,
Sagacious patient, dreading
praise, not blame,
New birth of our new soil, the
First American.

TAXPAYERS' ASSN

Outlines Matters To Be Taken Up
At Meeting.

John T. Cahill, secretary of the Taxpayers' Association, has sent notices to members that a meeting of the Association will be held at Measter's Hall, 635 Broadway, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The notice reads as follows:

The elimination of the Broadway crossing, one of the most expensive and also most important questions arising in this city in years, is now before the Public Service Commission of this state for determination. The Association has taken an active interest and participation in this matter and expects to do so until the matter is determined. Come to the meeting and help solve the problem for the betterment and benefit of the people of this city.

Important charter amendments have been proposed by the Board of Aldermen of this city. These amendments are matters in which our Association also should and will be interested. Come and also give your views as to the proposed amendments.

We cannot expect a few people to do all the work in reference to these matters. Why not do your part, as many hands make work light, it has been said.

Repetent Patsy.

Minnie and her little dog, Patsy, were playing in the kitchen. Minnie's mamma was cooking supper and stumbled over Patsy, causing her to drop an egg on the freshly scrubbed floor. She put Patsy out on the porch and scolded Minnie to a corner. In a few moments Patsy scratched on the door and began barking. Minnie said to her mother: "Mamma, can Patsy come in now? He's sorry. Would you hear him 'pologizing'?"

That's So.

The world owes you a living, but it takes work to identify yourself as the fellow it's owing to.—Boston Transcript.

SURVIVORS OF FEUDAL TIMES

Prussian Junkers Rooted in Their Belief of Their Complete Superiority to Ordinary Man.

A Junker is a member of a noble Prussian family, who belongs to the landed aristocracy, and as a rule, adopts the profession of arms and enters the caste circle of the officer corps. Thanks to the survival of feudalism in the organization of German society, the Junker has acquired a broad significance. Hence as commonly used today it indicates a narrow-minded, arrogant, and often, bellicose member of the aristocracy.

Since 1807, when, under the leadership of Bismarck, the aristocratic party came into political power, the Junker has been applied to those who hold reactionary views, because they desire to preserve intact the exclusive social, military and political privileges belonging traditionally to the "well born."

Junkerism and Junkerdom indicate the policies and the customary round of ideas, judgments, and prejudices characteristic of the Junker class.

They have been and still are of great influence, for they have affected Prussian domestic policies by their organized efforts to preserve and protect large landed estates; they have molded German social life by their assumption of complete superiority to the ordinary man, especially to the man who engages in trade or manufactures, while the Prussian officer corps has taken its distinctive tone from their haughty aloofness from the civilian population.

Simply Couldn't Be Done.

Mother knew several practical gifts were to be given Daniel, so she was preparing him in advance by telling him he was to be appreciative of practical gifts as well as toys. "But, mother," said the little fellow, "my neighbor isn't so big that I can be glad for shoes and such things."—Chicago Tribune.

Conning.

The French were the first people to preserve fruits and vegetables. This was done back in 1810. The French government offered a prize for the best method of storing foods during the winter months, and among the suggestions was the canning process. America invented the fruit jar and brought the canning industry to be one of the largest and most important in the world, turning into billions of dollars annually.

400,000 YANKS ARE Y. W. C. A. VISITORS

Four hundred thousand persons and more served in the cafeteria in one year is the record of the Y. W. C. A. Hostess House at Camp Lewis, American Lake, Wash.

The majority of the 400,000 diners were mothers, wives, sweethearts and friends who went to the camp to visit their soldiers. The remainder were soldiers themselves who broke the monotony of "chow" with home cooked meals. In addition to all these guests, 25,000 little children were cared for in the nursery and the rest room served 70,000 tired wives and mothers.

The workers at the information desk received and answered 97,000 questions varying from how to get the best connections to a destination clear across the continent, the rates of soldiers' insurance and the kind of canteen a girl bride should have in her living room now that Private John is coming home from France. Eleven thousand of these queries required telephone conversations with various company commanders relative to hanging up a soldier whose parents had arrived unexpectedly.

Cruise Overlooked a Bit.

That Robinson Crusoe, in spite of his well known resourcefulness, overlooked a fine business opportunity is shown by the fact that the island of his adventures, Mas-a-Tierra off the Juan Fernandez group off the coast of Chile, is now the seat of a large lobster-canning industry. Crusoe seemed to think he was doing remarkably well to pick up the necessities of life on that island—and most of them were washed ashore from a wreck at that—but its modern inhabitants do a real business in the export of luxuries.

OF THE EPIPHANY

Fair Eastern Star, thou art ordained to run
Before the sun, to the rising sun,
Here cease thy course, and wonder that
Of this poor stable can thy Maker shroud.

Ye heavenly bodies glory to be bright,
And are esteemed as ye are rich in light,
But here on earth is taught a different way.

Since under this low roof the Highest lay,
Jerusalem erects her stately towers,
Thou, treasure, offering incense, myrrh
and gold.

Yet there thou must not cast a trembling
glance,
Let Herod's palace still continue dark;
Each school and synagogue thy force repels.

There Pride enthroned in misty error
dwells;
The temple, where the priests maintain their choir,
Shall taste no beam of thy celestial fire,
While this weak cottage all thy splendor takes.

A joyful note of every chink it makes,
Here shines no golden roof, no ivory stair,
No king exalted in a stately chair,
Girl with attendant, or by heralds styled,
But straw and hay enwrap a speechless
Child.

Tot Sabbe's lords before this Babe unfold
Their treasure, offering incense, myrrh
and gold.
The crib becomes an altar; therefore dies
No ox nor sheep; for in their folds Her Prince of Peace, who, thankful for his bed,
Destroys those rites in which their blood was shed.

The quietude of earth he takes, and feels,
And precious gums distilled from weeping
trees,
Rich spices and sweet odors now declare
The adorning meanings which his laws prepare.

To clear us from the haze and leathern
Good,
Of sense, and make us fit for angels' food,
Who lift to God for at the holy smoke,
Of fervent prayers which which we him invite.

And try our actions in the searching fire,
By which the verminous our lives inspire,
No manly dress pure minerals shall infer.

We shall exult, our vapors up direct;
No smoke shall cross, or smothering lights obscure
Perpetual signs which mark a happy place.
—Sir John Beaumont.

Gold Placers Throughout Eastern Siberia Are Rich; Can Be Worked With Ease

From time immemorial Siberia has been known to Russians as the "Golden Bottom," and this not without a reason.

The great gold placers scattered throughout eastern Siberia tempted and attracted enterprising individuals for many centuries, through their richness and the ease with which they could be worked.

Only the severity of the climate and lack of adequate transportation together with indifference on the part of the government prevented the Siberian gold fields from becoming the greatest in the world.

Alluvial gold was first found in the Province of Eniseisk in 1830. Afterwards gold was discovered in great amounts throughout the whole province. The gold is found in many cases in the sand of rivers and small streams.

The geological formation of these deposits varies, but in many cases shows predominance of slate rocks. The thickness of gold-bearing strata varies in places from 14 feet to 21 feet, and their extent from five-tenths to 35 miles.

The proportion of gold is also different, according to the depth of the deposit. A thin layer of alluvium, called "turf," usually covers the gold strata.

It is well to remember that environment has much to do with achievement. Associate only with those who are full of enthusiasm and determined to succeed. Keep close to people who encourage you. Create peace in the home. Make of it a harbor of refuge, a means of escape from a work-a-day world. If you will do this, you will soon find yourself well on the road to success.—Fern Howard.

Environment Counts.

LEAGUE ONLY HOPE SAYS KING GEORGE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 11.—"I rejoice particularly that the powers assembled at the peace conference have agreed to accept the principle of a league of nations, for it is by progress along that road that I see the only hope of saving mankind from a recurrence of the scourge of war," said King George in an address today opening parliament.

Reviewing the situation at the close of the war King George declared that, in order to reap the full fruits of victory and safeguard the people of the world adequately, an army must be maintained.

It was after this declaration by made reference to the peace conference at Paris.

RIVER PROSPECTS FOR ICE DUBIOUS

While there has been a decided change in the temperature since Saturday, the weather has not been cold enough to change the situation any in regard to an ice crop from the Hudson river. While new ice forms each night the strong tide and the heavy wind that blows throughout the days keeps the ice on the move. Those who keep in touch with the ice situation say that the prospects of securing a crop from the river this season are daily growing more dubious.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

A LITTLE DOG.

"A little black dog," said Daddy, "belonged to a very little old lady who always wore black clothes. The dog was very tiny, but the old lady was so small that people always said: 'The little dog and the little lady are going by the house.'"

"The dog's name was Soot, for he was just as black as soot. However he had a nice smooth coat which always looked shiny and well kept."

"He had pointed ears, a very pointed nose and a small pointed tail. He really looked as if he were all points, and his eyes even had the look of being pointed, as though he always would like to be asking questions."

"Perhaps his mistress thought he was always asking them, for she would talk to him and say: 'Yes, I do believe Soot that we must walk a little more.'"

"Soot would wag his pointed tail as if he quite understood and agreed. Soot had never been to school of course, for his mistress knew that little dogs did not have to learn lessons. But if there had been such a thing as a dog's school she would have been very happy. She knew that Soot was so much brighter than almost any other dog she had ever seen that he would win all the prizes of ribbons and bones for being such a clever scholar."

"It was a cold day and Soot's mistress was feeling quite poorly. 'I have a cold,' she told Soot, 'and I do not feel like going out when it is so damp. You take a run by yourself.'"

"So she opened the door and Soot ran out. 'I think I will go on the side of the hill,' he said. 'I would like a good scumper. I will get warmed up then and will not be a trouble to my mistress. She is so good to me when I am ill and there is so little I can do for her except to lick her hand and tell her with my eyes how very, very sorry I am.'"

"Soot's face looked quite sad at the thought of his mistress home with a cold. 'I shall take her a stick for the fire,' he said. 'She seems to like my sticks far better than those the kindling man brings.'"

"Soot scamped this way and that, and picked up one stick and then another. But all of a sudden he noticed two heads above the water in the lake below the hill. And then he saw a canoe."

"He looked again and this time he was certain. He ran down the hill to the edge of the water. There out in the lake, far out from the shore was an upturned canoe and two girls trying to swim with all their clothes on to the shore. They could swim—yes, but how long could they keep it up?"

"Oh dear, how badly Soot did feel to be so small. He could not rescue them. He was so very tiny. But he had a voice and he could run on his little legs. So back into the village he tore as fast as he could, barking, barking, barking."

"He ran to some men and he stood around them barking and jumping up and down: his little face looking very sad and worried."

"Something must be wrong with the little old lady," said one of the men. 'Let's go and see. This dog never acts like this as a rule.'"

"But the dog did not lead them in the direction of the house where the old lady lived. 'She must have been hurt out walking,' said another man."

"But no, Soot led them down by the water and there they saw the upturned boat and the two girls trying so hard to swim to shore. One was resting on the boat, for they had known enough not to leave their boat when they had upset even though it would be hard to take it with them."

"The men rushed how long could ed to one of the They kept it up boat houses on the shore of the lake. Everything had been closed up for the boating season was almost over and very few people went out in the autumn. The men broke open a boat house and they took a launch out into the lake. They just reached the two girls in time. In another three minutes they could not have kept up any longer. They had called for help but the wind had carried their voices in another direction, and the only one who had seen them was Soot."

"How happy he was, and not only the new collar that was given to him by the grateful girls made him so pleased. No, far more than that was the pride of the little old lady for her little dog Soot."

This should not be for a day, a week or a year, but a life work. In no other way can a man become master of himself.—Dr. J. H. Tilden.

Butterbean is Best.

A meal for a whole family from one bean is possible now in California. The bean is called the Golden Butterbean, and one offered in the Los Angeles market was almost three feet long and nine inches in circumference. It is said to be excellent eating, similar to the eggplant.

Gigantic Amazon.

The Amazon drains an area of 2,300,000 square miles—ten times the area of France—and in connection with the river and its tributaries there are said to be 50,000 miles of navigable water.

Shakespearean Bride.

None of the weddings of Shakespeare are conventional and no thought of the display wedding that women are said to love disturbed these brides who all seem sadly lacking in the reserve attributed to women. The Shakespearean bride does not have to be coaxed to name the day. Light, Porcia and Olivia forestall their lovers in mentioning the ceremony, the latter two hurrying their bridegrooms to church with a haste that is almost comical; and we have the testimony of Othello that Desdemona did the of the courting.

You're getting a June Style in a February Maxwell

THE MAXWELL car of today is so vastly improved in appearance that many persons believe we have produced a new model. That is not the case.

It is the same chassis, scarcely with a change, on which 300,000 Maxwells have been built.

But it is a better looking car. It is finer in finish; angular lines have been straightened out; fenders improved; bonnet simplified; cowl made flush with the top line of the body; seats thickened by three inches; circassian dash installed; gas tank slung in the rear, etc.

There are twenty-four things done to make it more beautiful.

We made the Maxwell simple to start with five years ago. Then we kept on making and making these cars all alike. We have now completed 300,000 of them.

There is logic in doing one thing and doing it well. We have followed that logic. And results tell today.

Maxwells have always been noted for their reliability. Now they will become noted for their beauty.

And today we are in a position to give you a June style in a February Maxwell, which a year ago seemed quite out of the question on account of the war.

Come and see the latest Maxwell.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE TOWN

Ellenville, Feb. 10.—Memorial day for Theodore Roosevelt was observed at the M. E. Church Sunday morning.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Ell Quick, Tuxedo Park, N. Y. The hymns sung were appropriate. A duet entitled, "Face to Face," was rendered by Mrs. Fred Freer and Miss Carolyn Clark, while Miss Clark in a fine soprano voice rendered "Crossing the Bar." The Rev. Mr. Quick delivered a splendid address on the life of the late Colonel Roosevelt.

He paid a high tribute to the many fine traits of character he possessed, dwelling at length on his religious life. The very earnest and splendid address was well received by the large congregation present.

Closing his discourse with a very fervent prayer, "America" was rendered by the large choir and congregation. The service closed following the benediction. At the Reformed Church, both morning and evening services were memorials.

At the morning service the theme of the pastor, the Rev. Walter S. Malnes, sermon was "Abraham Lincoln." The evening address, "Theodore Roosevelt," those who were privileged to hear the very excellent address on the lives of the two great men were indeed fortunate.

The tribute of Roosevelt to Lincoln was inspiring as given by Dr. Malnes and the tribute paid the lamented Roosevelt by B. H. Nadall in verse was the life and character of the great man finely portrayed.

At both services the hymns sung were appropriate as also the well rendered anthem, under the leader, Mr. Van Wagener, and organist, Mrs. Tenney.

The February meeting of the local W. C. T. U. will be held at Hunt Memorial Hall on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Frances Willard Memorial Day will be observed. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. John R. DeVany.

Invitations have also been issued for the coronation at this place.

Following an hour or more engaged at a business session and sewing, delicious refreshments were served, which were enjoyed with a pleasant social intercourse.

Miss Mabel Fredd, who has been confined to her home on Hickory street since returning from New York, where she had a narrow escape from death by gas, is reported to be coming on fine with all hopes of complete recovery.

His many friends in Ellenville are glad to welcome him home from arduous work he did while in France in the service of his country, doing his part so nobly in helping to bring about peace that the whole world celebrated so enthusiastically.

Mrs. E. E. Count and daughter, Vette, go this week to Brockton, Mass., to spend a month or two with her sister-in-law and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Emerson.

Mrs. J. E. Appleby was at Tuxedo Park on Sunday and occupied the pulpit of the M. E. Church, exchanging while the Rev. Ell Quick was in Ellenville. During the Rev. Mr. Quick's stay in town he was entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Andrews.

James B. Taylor of Tyringham, Mass., who was here for the funeral of his brother, the late S. M. Taylor, remained in town for a few days' visit with the relatives.

The large number attending, especially the young people, are loud in their praise of the splendid game of basketball played at Norbury Hall on Friday evening when the Kingston High School team were defeated by the local high school team. The game was well played and enjoyed. The Kingston boys captivated the hearts of many at the game. The music by Shurters orchestra from Kingston was enjoyed during the game at intervals and it furnished fine catch music for the dancing which followed the game. The young friends will receive a cordial welcome when they visit Ellenville again.

A special car attached to the regular train service arrived at the Nap-a-noch station Friday evening and brought twenty-nine guests to Tama Farms Inn for a week end stay at this wonderful resort. They were accompanied by Frank Seaman of New York, the proprietor of this splendid hotel, who has spared neither money or time to equip and maintain a hotel where the best land can afford to be obtained—at this Inn—and if ever "the one's privilege" to visit this famous hotel, more visits are sure to follow. For to see the place is at once to love it.

THE STROLLER HEARS THAT CHARTER

Thickens Should Thinker With Charter in Regard to Pension Funds—A Costly Trial.

"There is one thing I regret," remarked the busy barber as the customer entered the shop.

"What is that?" queried the customer.

"That one of Jim Lawrence's bullets did not kill the nigger who stabbed him," replied the barber vigorously.

"That would be too easy a death for the stabber," commented the customer.

"I agree with you," replied the barber, "but then again it would have saved the county a lot of money."

"How do you figure that out?" asked the customer.

"A murder trial always costs the county in the neighborhood of $5,000 I am told," replied the barber, "but of course this Byrd, and if he is the guilty man he is a bird, should have a fair trial, and that is what he will get."

"It does seem a shame to waste all that money on him if he is guilty," agreed the customer.

"What with two shocking deaths in the past few days, one in the police department, and one in the fire department," continued the barber, "it seems to me that the charter thinkers should start tinkering to amend the provisions covering the pension funds of the two departments."

"In what way," asked the customer.

"As the matter stands now," explained the barber, "in case a cop or fireman is retired within the specified period he receives half salary, which is perfectly fair, but in case he is killed in the performance of his duty those who are dependent upon him get a lump sum of $500."

"That is news to me," interrupted the customer.

"And," continued the barber, "I am in favor of the widows or dependent mother receiving a pension of half pay."

HEADLINE ACTS FOR SHRINERS' BALL

Final announcement was made this morning of the spectacular program that has been arranged for the entertainment of the guests of the Kingston Shriners Association at their annual ball and entertainment to be held in the armory on next Tuesday evening, February 18, and the completed list promises well. In addition to securing the best in dance and concert music they have, for the amusement of those who do not dance, arranged a fine bill of headline acts from New York. The acts consist of the "Delojes," whirlwind Arab acrobats, performing in their native costumes; White and Andrews in exhibition ball room dancing; Andrews and King in spectacular dancing, and a professional soloist of world fame whose name will be announced later.

The two orchestras that have such an endearing place in the hearts of the music loving public of New York state will come to Kingston with their best for the Shriners and in variety of selections for all they are supreme. Collins orchestra from Albany is well acquainted with the expectations of the local association and they are coming prepared to carry out their part in the delightful function. That farz hand that every one is so keen about will not falter but will outdo themselves to win the appreciation of the Shriners of Kingston.

The sale of tickets for exceeds the hopes of the committee and a record-breaking crowd is assured for not only a social success but for financial success which will be given to deserving charity. This is not a Kingston attraction but you will meet your out of town friends as this affair has a livelier prominence in society.

Every detail of the event from start to finish will outline a feature and every one will be entertained whether they dance or not. The Shriners have something to amuse everyone so do not hesitate because you do not dance.

London Beauty Discovery.

By Telegraph to The Freeman
London, Feb. 11.—The pallid and yellow features of London women are being permanently brightened and given a rosy tint by tattooists, whose electric needle complexion can be adjusted to any face. Tattooists report that they have never done such an extensive and profitable business among women clients as now. Presumably their work was largely devoted to men who wanted hearts tattooed on their arms. The men are on the waiting list since the women have discovered that rosy cheeks, rosy lips, electrically placed, add to their charms.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 11.—Governor Smith sent to the senate today for confirmation the nomination of John H. Cahill, of Syracuse, as a member of the state fair commission.

The governor also transmitted to the senate the nomination of the Rev. Thomas B. Kelly, of Mt. Kisco, as a manager of the New York State Reformatory for Women.

It was announced that the governor will send to the upper house for confirmation the following nominations to the Mohawk Lake reservation commission:

William Fellows Morgan, New York; Mrs. Eliza N. Guy, New York city; wife of Supreme Court Justice Charles L. Guy; Colonel Willis S. Paine, of Yorktown Heights, reappointed; Mrs. Laura J. Belknap, of Oscanawaga, Westchester county, and John J. Crehan, of New Rochelle.

Confirmation of the governor's appointment of Frances E. Perkins, of New York, as member of the state industrial commission, was virtually assured after a caucus of senate Republicans last night when it was found it is said, the necessary votes to beat the nomination on the floor of the house could not be mustered. The senate finance committee is likely to act on the nomination this afternoon.

YALE GETS WEBSTER'S HOUSE

Historic Building at New Haven Has Recently Become the Property of the University.

In purchasing and taking possession of the famous Noah Webster house, Yale university has come into possession of one of the oldest and perhaps the most historical building in New Haven.

When the venerable lexicographer wrote the dictionary a century ago, he never dreamed that the home in which he performed his literary labors would prove the quarters of United States troops in the greatest of world wars. Yet that was the destiny of the plain wooden building. The university turned it over to the Student Army Training corps and it was occupied by soldiers till the final demobilization.

It was the home of Webster while he resided in the city, although part of his dictionary was written at Amherst, Mass. Life was one of Yale's most famous professors, his work ranking in world value with that of his fellow professors, Samuel F. B. Morse and Eli Whitney.

The home stands at the corner of Grove and Temple streets and was formerly the property of Courtland T. Trowbridge, a relative of the lexicographer. The university has acquired it because of its scheme to fill the square bounded by Wall, Temple, Grove and College streets with dormitories for the Sheffield Scientific school. The entire group, it is expected will be given by Frederick W. Vanderbilt of New York city, a graduate of the class of '76. He already has given two large dormitories.

HAD THE LAUGH ON COOTIES

Soldier's Humorous Explanation of Why He Was Wearing Such "Giddy Lingerie."

Life on the front had its whimsicalities at times in spite of rolling barages, the hail of bullets, the jangle of caissons and the whining of truck motors. Lieut. Harry B. Henderson tells of a beautiful red rose on his camp table. In a letter to the Wyoming State Tribune, beside an Austrian shell with a bit of scenery painted on it, which served as a paper-weight. Then there are incidents that excite the "risibles" and afford needed diversion to the mind. For instance:

"The other day they were keeping us a bit busy and I had my ear on top of my head all the time deciding on each 'whirl' as it approached. Just in the hottest part of it, one of my gunners came tearing down a rutty road, clad in a Prince Isaac coat he'd found in a raid and wearing a Boche cap. He was pushing a baby-buggy full of potatoes and dynamite which he thought I could use. We had the tables for lunch and then blasted a new dugout with the explosive. You can't imagine how you laugh when you've been a bit under a strain for several days of firing, and then see something funny. But for my sense of the propitities I'd describe the giddy lingerie the young man was using for underwear. He explained to me that cooties get so tired of wandering through lace!"—Literary Digest.

Japanese Activity in Siberia.

Canadian papers are commenting on the activity of the Japanese throughout the maritime province of Siberia. Agents of Japanese syndicates are reported to be negotiating for the purchase of a large number of mines, four mills, brickworks, sawmills and other industrial undertakings, while commercially they are making every effort to extend their influence. The Japanese firms, which for the most part have only recently been established at Vladivostok, are enlarging their operations and endeavoring to obtain as large a share as possible of the trade of the territory. The scouts of these firms are reported to be scouring the country for scrap iron, hides, wool, bristles, beans and other Siberian and Manchurian products required in Japan.

Monument to Stand on Prairie.

Solitary on a Texas prairie there will be seen next spring a heroic bronze statue of a man and horse. It is a memorial to young Charles Noras, of a ranch near Melvin, who was killed in a range accident three years ago, and is the work of Pompeo Coppini. The Texas lad was six feet four inches in height and the sculptor has modeled him as he was in life, while the horse stands 16 hands high. The pose is striking. Mr. Coppini is now at work on Chicago's monument to her heroes.

Owned Fine Library.

Andrew D. White, the eminent American diplomat, who died recently, was the owner of one of the finest libraries in America. Mr. White began early in life to accumulate books, chiefly on the subjects of the world's history. At last he had 60,000 volumes, a respectable total, as Mr. Birrell would admit, who once said that a man should never talk of his library until he had 10,000 books. Mr. White left his library to Cornell university.

Russia Institute of Sycthes.

Before the war Russia's need of sycthes was estimated at 6,000,000 annually, of which about half were required in Siberia. To fill these requirements about 4,500,000 sycthes were imported annually and the remainder manufactured in Russia. According to latest information there are hardly any sycthes to be found, Russian industry being at a standstill and the importation closed.
